

Musmanno For New Urban Unit

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Justice Michael A. Musmanno of Pennsylvania's Supreme Court said Friday he favored creation of a U.S. Department of Urban Affairs, with cabinet status, "to assure adequate representation of large cities at the federal level."

Musmanno is a candidate for the Democratic nomination at the April 28 primary, and has been endorsed by the Pennsylvania Democratic organization.

"The war against juvenile delinquency should also be coordinated with President Johnson's all-out drive on poverty, while effectively utilizing the domestic Peace Corps and the proposed Youth Conservation Corps," Musmanno said.

Michigan Orders Reapportionment

DETROIT (AP)—A three-judge federal court ordered the Michigan Legislature Friday to draw up new congressional districts or face an at-large election of all 19 of the state's representatives.

No time limit was set by the judges for the lawmakers to act, but Secretary of State James Hare said a new plan would be needed by April 20 if an at-large election was to be avoided.

All three judges agreed that the congressional districts adopted by the legislature last year for the November election were unconstitutional because they were not reasonably equal in population.

Jackie Kennedy Skis On Snow

STOWE, Vt. (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy, an old hand at water skiing, tried a ski slope Friday and took a couple of spills her first time out on the snow.

She is here with daughter Caroline, 6, for an Easter weekend, along with other members of the late President's family.

Also staying at The Lodge, an inn at the foot of Mt. Mansfield, were Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy, Mrs. Eunice Shriver, and their children.

Easter Egg Hunt Hits Moonshine

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—A woman searching for a $100 Easter egg Friday found a half-gallon of moonshine instead.

Radio station WGAI was sponsoring a hunt for a colored plastic egg containing a slip of paper entitling the finder to $100. The clues appeared to lead to an old covered bridge.

Several persons were in the area searching when the unidentified woman gave a whoop. But her find wasn't the egg. It was a half gallon of nontax-paid whiskey.

Police In Pink

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Capitol police force will shortly become the most decorative item around Pennsylvania's old Statehouse.

The new color scheme of their uniforms is to be green and pink. Blues will be green with black-striped pink trousers and pink caps.

Grouched a member of the Capitol force: "They're going to make us look like bellhops."

Burns In Bathtub

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Mrs. Bertha Gardner, 46, said by police to be a follower of a Buddhist group, burned to death Friday. Police said she filled the bathtub in her home with straw and newspapers, poured on inflammable materials, got in and struck a match.

Her husband, Kelly, could give no reason for the act. The Gardners are Negroes.

35 On Half-Ship

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Towed by two tugs, the severed stern of the tanker San Jacinto moved toward port Friday at a speed of five knots. Aboard were 35 mariners who elected to remain on their half-ship.

A spokesman for Curtis Bay Towing Co. said the stern was expected to arrive at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co. yards Saturday morning, weather permitting.

Christians Mark Christ Crucifixion

By CHARLES L. WEST
Associated Press Writer

Christians throughout the world turned once again this Easter weekend to the promise of the Crucifixion for solace in troubled times.

Roman Catholic and Protestant Good Friday services recalled the blackest day in the history of the faith, the day Christ died on the Cross.

In the United States, amphitheaters, churches, and parks were readied for the traditional sunrise services of Easter Sunday, the day Christ rose from the dead.

Triumph
"That morning, many years ago, apparent defeat and failure was turned into triumph," said the Easter message of the president of the National Council of Churches, Bishop Reuben H. Mueller, who is spending the weekend in West Berlin.

"Facing our problems today, as Christ's followers faced theirs in their day when the first Easter dawned, we too can find help in the living Christ, no matter what our problems are."

Eastern Orthodox Christians, keeping a different calendar, do not observe Easter until May 3. This year, the start of the Jewish Passover observance coincided with the Protestant and Roman Catholic Good Friday.

From Rome, Pope Paul VI extended an apparently unprecedented Roman Catholic pontifical gesture to non-Catholic Christians in the cause of unity.

Instead of referring to them with the often-used term "separated brothers," the Pope said in his Holy Thursday services:

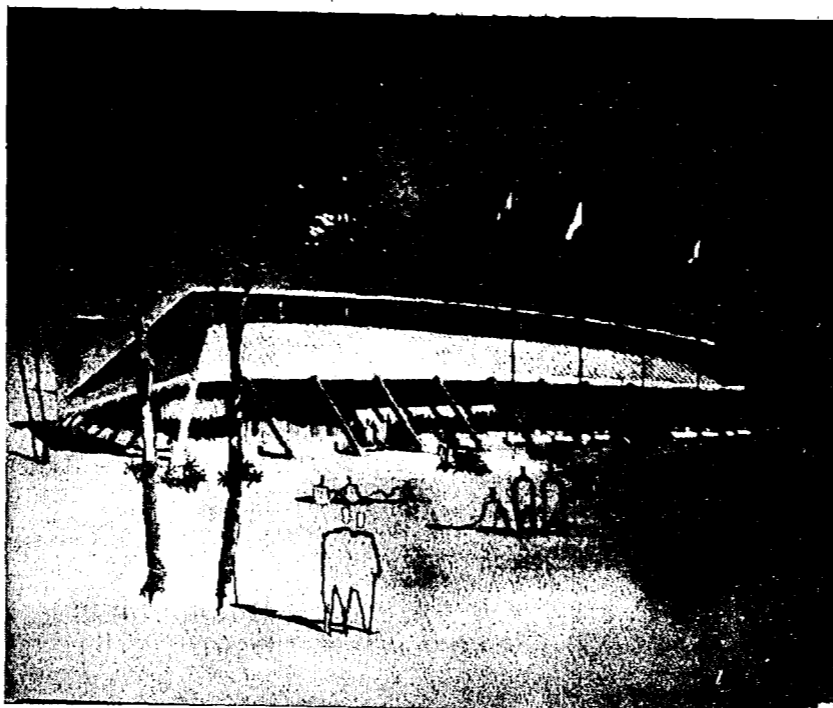

"The Pope also referred to the Protestant Reformation and said, 'May the virtue of the Easter of Christ indicate the just, and perhaps long way to bring us together.'"

Jewish Passover Week Begins

NEW YORK (AP)—Passover, the ancient Jewish festival celebrating the freedom of the Israelites from bondage, began Friday night at sundown.

Orthodox and conservative Jews will observe the festival for eight days, reform Jews for seven.

By coincidence, Passover starts this year on Good Friday, the day Christ was crucified and a day of penance and mourning for Christians.

POCONO MUSIC PAVILION—Lee Everett of Everett Associates, Allentown architects, drew this design of the proposed $361,000 Pocono Art Center music pavilion.

Art Center Unveils $361,000 Music Pavilion

EAST STROUDSBURG—The Pocono Art Center revealed yesterday the architect's design and cost estimates for a $361,000 music pavilion for summer concerts of the Philadelphia Orchestra.

The open-sided, 200 by 260-foot cover for the 100-piece orchestra and 6,000 seated listeners was designed by Lee Everett of Everett Associates in Allentown.

Mrs. Marcia Clapp De Rocco, chairman of the art center, said the 42-acre site on Buttermilk Falls Road near East Stroudsburg would be dedicated with two Philadelphia Orchestra concerts Aug. 11 and 12, 1964.

She said the art center plans to finish the building itself for concerts in the summer of 1965. A full concert series is planned to start June 1 to 15, 1965, with the prospect of additional "Indian Summer Concerts" in September, 1966.

Unique Concept
"Lee Everett's design solves the problem of sheltering 6,000 people and the orchestra. It is aesthetically beautiful and unique in conception."

"The three-inch wood planks of the roof will give excellent resonance and project sound well out to the 6,000 additional people who may sit on the grass outside the pavilion," Mrs. De Rocco said.

The stage dimensions are identical to those of the Pennsylvania Academy of Music in Philadelphia—approximately 23 feet high, 40 feet deep and 60 feet wide," she added.

There will be orchestra warm-up and dressing rooms, and room for stage scenery for ballet, drama and opera.

"The pavilion will be flexible in its possible uses," Mrs. De Rocco said. "It may be used for convention displays, art exhibitions, folk dancing, or just about anything appropriate to the art center."

The pavilion will contain 87 six-seat boxes, will have a black-top floor, and foldable canvas seats.

Cost Estimates
The architect's cost estimates include:

Structural steel and steel joists, 228 tons, $110,600. Blacktop parking area for 3,000 cars and paved walks, $50,000. Aluminum siding and flashing, 20,500 square feet, $54,100. Plumbing and toilets, $20,000. Electrical equipment, $18,300. Blacktop paving, 6,380 square yards, $16,500. Twelve-inch block walls, 14,000 square yards, $16,300. Roofing and flashing, 45,300 square feet, $16,100. Fencing, $10,000. Roof deck, 45,300 square feet, $15,400. Painting, 328 tons, $9,400. Site clearance, removal and replacement of soil on 2 and one-half acres, $6,500.

Board Accepted
The art center board of directors has accepted the architect's design and is planning a $500,000 campaign for funds to build the music pavilion, a smaller year-round chamber music auditorium for community use, and other buildings for art center activities.

Members of the board of directors are Spencer Cramer, Jesse Flory, Robert Davenport, and Mrs. De Rocco.

Mrs. De Rocco said Henry Peltier, business manager of the Philadelphia Orchestra, reviewed and commended the plans during a Wednesday visit to East Stroudsburg.

The architect will meet in April with Eugene Ormandy, music director of the orchestra, who said at a concert in East Stroudsburg Sept. 13, 1963, that he had "dreamed for 20 years of a summer home for the orchestra in the Poconos."

Court Puts Salinger On Primary Ballot

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Pierre Salinger, aspiring to be U.S. senator from California, won a place Friday on the June 2 Democratic primary ballot over the opposition of the secretary of state and the attorney general's office.

Victory came in the State Supreme Court exactly one week after the 38-year-old press secretary for Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson returned from nine years in Washington and announced his first plunge into a California political race.

Salinger faces 11 other Democrats for the nomination, including ailing incumbent Sen. Clair Engle and State Controller Allan Cranston.

The court, in a unanimous decision which it said is "final and forthwith," ordered Salinger's name on the ballot in the face of arguments that he had failed to meet state requirements both as a registered California voter and a certified Democrat in this state.

"The campaign is on," the cigar-chomping Salinger said exuberantly in Los Angeles on hearing of the decision.

Tuesday, Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, a Republican, rejected Salinger's papers of candidacy. That same day, Salinger's attorneys asked the State Supreme Court to order their acceptance.

Thursday, a brief was filed with the court defending Jordan's position. The brief was signed by Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, a Democrat. It had been drawn up by a Mosk assistant after he had talked matters over with the executive secretary of Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat.

Mosk had strongly considered running for the nomination Salinger now seeks. Reports circulated widely that Mosk was dissuaded by Brown who backs Cranston. Engle is in ailing health after brain surgery.

On Friday, Salinger's attorneys filed with the clerk of the State Supreme Court a brief in rebuttal to Jordan's, arguing that the state regulations Jordan cited are unconstitutional.

Rusk Brands Castro Cuba Major Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk, disputing Sen. J. W. Fulbright's charge of failure in administration Cuba policy, said Friday that Fidel Castro is more than a nuisance—he is a threat to this hemisphere.

Rusk was questioned at a news conference about Wednesday's speech by Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, calling for abandonment of "old myths" in foreign policy attitudes and for an end to the U.S. boycott policy against the Red Havana regime.

Rusk said Fulbright's speech was thoughtful and thought-provoking, and that he fully agreed with the senator on a number of things in it.

But the secretary took sharp issue with Fulbright's declaration that the administration's attempt to bring about Castro's downfall has failed and will fail because the other Western countries will not go along.

Fulbright pictured Castro as "a nuisance but not a grave threat."

GOP Senator Backs Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., endorsed Sen. J. W. Fulbright's challenge to the administration to accept Communist Cuba as a nuisance rather than an intolerable menace to the United States.

Aiken thus differed with many Republicans and some Democrats who have accused the Arkansas Democrat of favoring a policy of appeasement.

Fulbright, who is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, gave his views on Cuba and questioned several other U.S. foreign policy positions in a lengthy Senate speech on Wednesday.

Aiken, a senior Republican on Fulbright's committee, said Friday he agrees the U.S. boycott of Cuba is a failure and added that even if Western Allies had supported it, "I've never known

Communists Free 2 American Fliers

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Two U.S. fliers were released Friday by the Soviet Union and arrived in Wiesbaden in apparent good health 17 days after a Soviet fighter shot down their reconnaissance plane March 10.

The Soviet Union and Communist East Germany repeated charges that their RB66 flew over East Germany deliberately "for purposes of military reconnaissance" but were "expelled" because Washington expressed regrets.

Capt. David L. Holland, 35, Holland, Minn., and Melvin J. Kessler, 30, Philadelphia, arrived at the Allies' checkpoint at Helmstedt on the East German frontier in an Army sedan.

Their car barely halted before heading down the autobahn, preceded by a German police car, to Hannover. From there an Air Force plane flew them to U.S. Air Force European headquarters in Wiesbaden.

Freud Earlier
A third airman aboard the downed plane, Lt. Harold W.

Welch, 24, of Detroit, was released March 21. Welch was the only one injured when the three parachuted from their plane 20 miles inside East Germany. His suffered arm and leg fractures.

On their arrival at Wiesbaden, the two pilots were taken to an Air Force hospital for observation. A spokesman said they would remain there for some time.

Neither pilot showed any facial expression that would indicate his feelings on being returned.

At his Texas White House in Johnson City, President Johnson expressed gratification at their release and said he was pleased "that this matter has been sensibly settled."

The families of the two airmen were excited and happy at the news that they were safe back in American hands.

AP Chief Praises Press Finest Hour

NEW YORK (AP)—Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, said Friday that the AP threw more resources into covering the assassination of President John F. Kennedy than "any single news event in its history."

Gallagher said in his annual report that the tragedy "saw the press rise to its finest hour in keeping the world informed. It demanded the best in everyone and it received the best."

"The assassination," he said, "dominated all other events in a year of tremendous news at home and abroad."

The report on the activities of the worldwide news association was mailed to members in advance of The AP annual meeting here April 20. President Johnson will be the guest speaker.

Criticism
Gallagher dealt with some criticism of press coverage of the assassination.

"Criticism revolved around the mass reporting of reporters, cameramen and broadcasters of the death of Kennedy in a relatively quick designation of Lee Harvey Oswald as the accused assassin and Oswald's own murder a few hours later," he said.

"Mass reporting of some major news events is becoming so unusually that it puts all media in a bad light. The profession badly needs a solution and is groping for one."

"This should not obscure the basic fact, however, that at the time of the assassination the nation demanded and needed to know every detail of the events in Dallas and Washington. The quick identification of Oswald and his background shut off rumors which could have fueled ideological hatreds to the point of possible violence."

A Different Death
Gallagher said legal critics who sought to treat the death of a president in the same framework as an ordinary murder ignored the realities of the situation.

"Nor should the press be asked to share the blame when lax police work made it possible for an outsider to kill Oswald," he said.

Gallagher noted that a team of Associated Press top writers and editors captured the drama of the death of Kennedy in a book, "The Torch is Passed," which more than 700 AP members offered to their readers.

Book sales exceeded three million copies in the United States. Abroad the book was reprinted in seven languages.

Alaska Quake Damages Anchorage

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Sgt. Jack Murphy, Civil Defense director here, said the control tower at the Anchorage International Airport went down Friday as a strong earthquake hit Alaska.

Murphy said 3,000 feet of runway had been torn up.

Alaska Communications System officials here said they were advising their people to evacuate their offices at Anchorage.

In Juneau, Gov. William A. Egan said he had reports indicating the situation "looks real bad at Valdez."

"The dock apparently went in and the water supply was knocked out," the governor said about the coastal city east of Anchorage.

Egan said he had talked to Glennallen, about 170 miles northwest of Anchorage. He said while he was talking someone broke in, and not identifying himself, said, "Some of the big buildings in Anchorage didn't make it."

There was no official confirmation of this statement and the governor stressed the fact the speaker did not identify himself.

The seismologist at the University of Washington said it appeared the quake centered in the Rat Island area at the end of the Aleutian chain.

The earthquake hit Fairbanks at 5:37 p.m. (10:37 p.m. EST) and was so strong it knocked out the Coast and Geodetic Survey measuring equipment there.

LBJ To Stay Home While Lacking VP

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has reached a firm decision not to leave the United States while the office of vice president is vacant, unless some unforeseen crisis dictates otherwise, Congress has been told.

The State Department gave this information to a group of congressmen who wrote Secretary of State Dean Rusk suggesting Johnson arrange a meeting with President Charles de Gaulle of France to iron out U.S.-French differences.

Invitation Turned Down
Frederick G. Dutton, assistant secretary of state, who replied for Rusk, said Johnson had invited de Gaulle to the United States but the French leader turned down the invitation so a meeting between the two leaders is unlikely this year.

Dutton's letter was made public by Rep. Robert F. Ellsworth, R-Kan., after its existence was disclosed Friday by the Newark Evening News. Ellsworth said he is a member of a small, informal group of Republicans who meet occasionally to discuss important national affairs.

One of the group, Rep. Ogden R. Reid, R-N.Y., a former ambassador to Israel, had suggested that the congressmen propose a de Gaulle-Johnson meeting and the letter to Rusk was dispatched, Ellsworth said.

Dutton said Johnson's decision to plan no trips outside the United States "is based on a sound regard for our constitutional system." The State Department, he added, "would not feel justified in urging him to do otherwise."

Johnson or his successor will be sworn into office in January under the normal procedure.

French Still Talking
While Dutton said that under the circumstances a Johnson-de Gaulle visit appears to be ruled out for the remainder of the year, he wrote the congressmen:

"There has been no breakdown in communications between our two governments, however, because both governments are in regular communication with each other through diplomatic channels."

Have You Mailed In Your Easter Seal Contribution?

Today's Lesson:

Mary Magdalene And Thomas

By R. H. RAMSEY

In the events leading up to the Crucifixion we have encountered men, women, religious officials and Romans, totally different persons with but one thing in common: they were enemies of Christ. From Easter morning to the ascension, the only persons introduced in the Gospels are those who have become followers of Christ.

We meet two of these people in today's lesson. One is Thomas, the doubting disciple who had been with Jesus throughout the three years of His earthly ministry. The other is Mary of Magdalene, who is among those who administered to Jesus and the disciples as they traveled about Palestine. While she had no such doubts as Thomas during Jesus' life, they are identical in that neither expected Christ to arise from the dead.

It was to Mary Magdalene that Jesus first appeared after His resurrection. Thomas did not see the risen Lord for another week. Before dawn on the day after the Sabbath, Mary Magdalene went to the tomb to further anoint the Lord's body and found it empty. Despite a firm belief in Jesus' assurances of resurrection and eternal life, her first thought is that someone has violated the sepulchre and stolen the body.

Running off, she encounters Peter and John, whom she tells of her discovery. They must see for themselves. Entering the tomb, they find the "linen clothes lying." There were no signs of haste or hurry. The grave clothes had been carefully removed and laid in separate places. Clearly the body had neither been stolen by enemies nor taken away by friends. The neatly folded and piled grave clothes gave silent witness to the truth that Jesus, Himself, had left the tomb.

Peter and John hurried away, probably to the upper room where they had last seen and talked personally with Jesus.

There were ten appearances of the Lord Jesus during the 40 days between Easter Sunday and the day of His ascension. His first appearance to Mary Magdalene is recorded only by John.

Alone at the tomb, Mary weeps bitterly. Then she observes two angels watching. Whether they actually spoke aloud or not, their voices were audible to Mary. She told of her grief and, almost immediately, sensed the presence of a third party.

Mary first mistakes Him for the gardener. Then He speaks. And she knows He is her beloved Jesus, risen from the dead! How calm and objective are the verses which follow. How little they reveal of Mary's intense joy and exultation! Jesus gives her a message for the disciples and she hurries off to spread her glad news.

That evening Jesus appears to the disciples, excepting Thomas. He charges them to begin their ministries. When Thomas hears of this, he expresses many doubts (v. 25). For him, the high hopes of Israel had been crushed on the Cross. He was not faithless, but on his way to becoming that way.

Jesus, ever willing to give sincere doubters convincing evidence of the realities of divine truth, orders Thomas to feel Him, to touch His wounds, to prove to himself that the One who stands before him is indeed Jesus and He has indeed risen from the dead.

Thomas does. Suddenly his doubts are gone, his reserve broken. He confesses and receives the risen Christ as his Lord and God.

Then Jesus pronounces what is probably the greatest of His Beatitudes: Blessed are those who walk by faith and not by sight, for in God's own time they shall see His face.

The Lenten Story

BY WOODY ISHMAEL

TEACH ALL NATIONS

Before ascending to His Father in Heaven, Jesus gave His Apostles a worldwide mission.

He said to them, "All power is given unto me in Heaven and on earth."

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost:

"Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Amen." (Matthew XXVIII:18-20)

And in their lifetime, His Apostles carried the gospel to all the known corners of the ancient world: to India and Africa, Persia and Spain. All but John died a martyr's death.

PMVB Spokesman Opposes Putting Resort Workers Under Wage Act

(The Daily Record obtained Mr. Malleson's testimony through the Washington Bureau of the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON — William Malleson Jr., a spokesman for the Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau, vigorously opposed including resort workers under the federal Minimum Wage and Hour Act in recent testimony before a House subcommittee in Washington.

Malleson argued it would be wrong to force the resort industry to pay its workers a minimum of $1.25 per hour because of the food and lodging resorts supply to employees. He also maintained it would be "disastrous" if the industry was included in the bill's overtime provisions.

The general manager of Skiptop Lodge (near Canadensis) testified before the House General Labor Subcommittee March 13, as a representative of the 2,200-member American Hotel and Motel Assn. and the Interstate Resort Committee.

The Johnson Administration has introduced a bill to bring 735,000 workers from hotels, motels, laundries and logging and farm processing operations under the minimum wage act. The bill would also include 1,881,000 workers under overtime provisions of the act.

Testifying on behalf of the bill, Willard Wirtz, secretary of labor, said studies made by his department showed 53 per cent of workers in hotels were paid less than the minimum wage and 47 per cent in motels.

In his testimony Malleson said: "As resorts we are faced with all of the problems affecting other types of hotels and motels about which you will hear in more detail from others.

Operate 24 Hours A Day "We, too, must operate 24 hours a day for every day. We cannot step up our kitchen and dining room production and feed our guests once in five days a week to meet their requirements for seven days.

Peace Corps Test April 11 In S-burg

STROUDSBURG — The Peace Corps Placement Test will be given April 11 at 8:30 a.m. in the Stroudsburg Post Office.

Those taking the test at this time are still eligible for summer three-months training period, where intensive study is conducted at 55 colleges and universities across the nation.

After the training period, volunteers for overseas assignments are selected. The Peace Corps is looking for people with a knowledge of science and math, engineering, agriculture, and allied fields. Other qualifications, such as economics, geology, social work, are also needed.

The test takes about an hour and a half to complete. Those applicants skilled in either Spanish or French should also complete the one-hour language skills test.

There is no foreign language requirement, however. Test scores, character references and the application blank are used to determine the most appropriate overseas assignment.

If applicants have not already turned in a Peace Corps questionnaire, they should bring the completed form with them when they take the test.

Applicants must be American citizens at least 18. Married couples may apply if they have no dependents under 18. A college degree is not required.

"We cannot maintain their rooms and recreational facilities for five days a week to satisfy the need for seven days. Nor can we do these things in five or six hours a day to do for 24 hours. We must be on the job at all hours.

"Our employees, too, spend much of their working time sitting by waiting for a call to serve. This is true of cooks, bellmen, maids and many other employees.

"If permitted, our room clerks could assign all of our rooms to guests in three hours and our cashier could present bills and check out a full house in four hours, but we must keep their positions covered 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

"We, too, are showing a steady increase in ratio of payroll to income. In our own operation alone, our payroll has increased over 11 per cent in the last two years.

"During the testimony of Secretary Wirtz before this subcommittee on Feb. 10, Mr. Roosevelt (James Roosevelt, D-Calif.) asked him how he viewed the situation relating to resorts and if special attention were required here.

"The secretary answered: 'It is our conclusion that there is no necessity of special treatment in the statute for that situation.' Gentlemen, I propose to demonstrate to you just how ill-informed the secretary must be to make such a statement.

"First of all, most resort employees live on the job—before we consider the first dollar of cash wages, we must provide three meals a day, 21 meals a week, although the employee may work only six days a week.

Obituaries

Bangor Resident Funeral Monday

BANGOR — Funeral services for Pasquale Cinelli Sr., of 555 Pennsylvania Ave., Bangor will be held at 9:15 a.m. Monday at the Schiavone Funeral Home, Bangor, followed by a Requiem High Mass at 10 a.m. in Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church.

Mr. Cinelli, a retired foreman for the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, died Thursday afternoon at his home. Mr. Cinelli was born in Rome, Italy, a son of the late Rocco and Lucia Mangini Cinelli. He came to this country when he was 14 and settled in New York City. Five years, he moved to the Bangor area.

He was employed by the railroad for 30 years. He retired a year ago.

He was a member of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Roseto, and a life member of the Fourth Ward Citizens Club, Bangor.

Survivors include his widow, the former Mary Confalone; four sons, Pasquale Jr., Easton; Dr. Francis Cinelli, Bangor; Albert, West Hempstead, N.Y.; and Rocco, at home; a sister, Mrs. Stella Corvelli, in Italy, and nine grandchildren. A son, Rocco, died in 1934.

Stroud Fire

STROUDSBURG — Stroud Township Firemen were called at 1:25 p.m. yesterday to the home of Carl Graver of 930 Chippewafield Dr., Stroud Township to douse a minor fire.

The fire, of unknown origin, was out upon arrival of the four trucks and 30 men. They returned to quarters in 15 minutes.

"Since these meals constitute their whole diet they must be substantial, nutritious and appetizing. They are not just 'leftovers'.

"We must not only provide the food, but also the storage, preparation and service of the food. In addition, we must also provide areas for the storage, preparation and service of this food.

"Living accommodations include furniture and furnishings, heat, light, hot water, soap, tissue, towels, bed linen and blankets and staff to service these areas.

"Maintenance items include mail and telephone services, transportation to the nearest villages for shopping and attendance at houses of worship, extensive entertainment and sports facilities and personal facilities such as washing machines, pressing equipment and medical service.

"In fact, most of the essential living costs of an employee are paid by the resort in addition to cash wages.

"In an earlier study of hotels reported in 1962, the United States Department of Labor, in considering the value of tips to hotel employees, included only bellmen, waiters and waitresses and again in the 1964 report this limitation is repeated.

"Tips in resorts are a substantial part of income to many classes of employees. As the average length of stay lengthens at resorts, maids, housekeepers, assistant housekeepers, housekeepers, headwaiters, captains, relish and bread girls, doormen, elevator operators, spots attendants, telephone operators and fountain attendants are all favored with substantial gratuities.

"These, of course, are in addition to bellman, waiters and waitresses. Largely Seasonal "Resort business is largely seasonal. All overhead and capital expenses have to be met within a very few months.

"So-called year-round resorts are, in fact, seasonal operations, enjoying occupancy for only a few months of the year, but carrying a substantial portion of their payroll all year round.

"Fifty year-round resort hotels reported by Harris, Kerr, Forster and Co., a leading hotel auditing firm, had an average occupancy of 56.1 per cent in 1962.

"Although, in the off season, occupancy drops to about 39 per cent and these months show substantial losses, the average number of fulltime employees remains at 70 per cent of the payroll period.

"A Federal Minimum Wage Law will force most of these resorts to cut back to seasonal operation with resulting widespread unemployment in their areas for five or six months a year.

"This will be particularly true of the year-round resorts grossing about one million dollars.

"Resort hotels offer employment to more young students than any other industry. They also employ a great many school 'dropouts,' elderly and other untrained and marginal workers.

"The production ability of such workers is well below average, and if obliged to meet Federal Wage and Hour standards, they will be replaced with more capable employees.

"This unskilled, marginal group is the one of greatest concern in our national unemployment rolls.

"The rates charged by a resort must include, in addition to room and meals, a wide variety of sports, recreational and social facilities, and there is a very real ceiling on resort rates because:

"Pre-taxed Dollars "Resort income dollars are pre-taxed dollars. Comparatively few persons make business expense trips to resorts. The resort bill is paid with what the patron has been able to save after meeting his necessary expenses and all taxes. It is paid with 100 cent dollars.

"Resorts are a luxury business. No one has to use them. Vacations are one of the first things that are cut from a family budget when money is tight and when the industry is most vulnerable to economic depression.

"Heretofore I have dealt only with the minimum wage provisions of the law, and I now turn to the proposed overtime provisions.

"May I say in one word that the application of the overtime provisions to the resort industry would be disastrous.

"We contend that it is utterly unrealistic to put hotels into the classification of industry and trade that can and do operate on an eight hour day, five day week basis.

"To put resorts under such regulations would first of all require substantial investments for the construction of new housing and new dining areas for the additional employees required."

In his remarks to Congress, Rep. Rooney said, "We have some of the greatest resort hotels in America in our Pocono Mountains. We manufacture Ronson lighters, the best in the nation.

"But, until Mr. Dixon put his car to the ground ... not too many people knew that we were also manufacturers of one of the rarest and most valuable weapons in the world's history—the boomerang."

WASHINGTON — A newspaper article concerning Stroudsburg, the boomerang, and U.S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney, written by George Dixon, a syndicated columnist, was read into the Congressional Record this week in Washington.

The column, which appeared in The Daily Record last Monday, was the object of remarks made before the House of Representatives the following Tuesday.

Dixon, who writes daily in the Daily Record, amusingly recounted the existence of a boomerang factory located in Cherry Valley and operated by Lawrence Boyd. He ended his column by saying the boomerang capital of the world—had no objections to Stroudsburg-made boomerangs, as long as no rebates were offered on them.

Shortway May Delete Shawnee

STROUDSBURG — The name Shawnee may be removed from an exit sign on Interstate Rt. 80 (Keystone Shortway).

The Keystone Shortway Assn. has discussed the possibility of suggesting the State Department of Highways remove the name Shawnee because it is also the name of a private enterprise—Fred Waring's Shawnee-on-Delaware.

If the association decides to endorse the elimination of private names on exit signs, a proposed Split Rock exit would be renamed Lake Harmony. This section of the highway is still under construction.

At a recent meeting at its headquarters in Williamsport, the association also voted to endorse the number of exit signs. The exits would be numbered from one at the Ohio line to 52 at Delaware Water Gap.

In Monroe County the numbering would begin with 40 at the Lake Harmony or Split Rock exit. The other numbered exits would be:

Blacksville, 41; Scenrum, 42; Tannersville, 43; Bartonsville, 44; Ninth St. (Stroudsburg), 45; Lehigh (Rt. 209), 46; West Main St. (Stroudsburg), 47; Decher Ave. (Stroudsburg), 48; East Park Ave. (Stroudsburg), 49; East Stroudsburg, 50; Marshalls Creek, 51; Delaware Water Gap, 52.

The association also reelected its 30 directors at the meeting. Directors from the eastern district, which includes Monroe County are:

Clifford L. Cramer, of Cramer Lumber Co. in East Stroudsburg; Horace G. Heller, general manager of The Daily Record; State Senator Martin L. Murray of Ashley, Luzerne County; and Martin D. Cohn, the association's vice president also from Luzerne.

The association reported ground will be broken April 16, for a cloverleaf interchange at the junction of the Keystone Shortway and Interstate Rt. 80 (Antietam Expressway) at St. John's near Hazleton.

A luncheon will follow the ceremonies at Gus Genetti's Hotel on Rt. 300, just outside Hazleton.

2 Hospitalized After Accident

CANADENSIS — Two persons were admitted to the General Hospital of Monroe County last night after a one-car accident at 8:10 p.m. on Rt. 300, a half mile north of Canadensis.

Admitted to the hospital in critical condition were Robert C. Smith of 105 N. 12th St., and William Lutsko, of 152 Linden St., both of Allentown.

Harry Campbell, chief of police in Barret Township, said the car may have been traveling fast when the driver lost control on a turn and the station wagon rolled over.

The vehicle is estimated a total loss.

Businessmen Calm Over Trade Ruling

STROUDSBURG — Local businessmen don't think the state Supreme Court's decision to strike down the Fair Trade Act will affect their businesses.

"The state high court Thursday declared the Fair Trade Act — whereby designated fair trade items would price-stabilized — unconstitutional.

Holt Wyckoff of Wyckoff's Department Store in Stroudsburg said, "The decision probably won't affect us at all. Price levels will still be set."

"I don't think that the decision will affect prices, either. Businesses had the same effect with the advent of the discount."

Wyckoff said that manufacturers will charge certain prices for their goods, and that retailers won't be able to drop below their wholesale costs.

"The state hasn't been making an issue out of enforcing the act," Wyckoff continued. "Was the decision good or bad?"

"I haven't fussed about it a bit. I don't think that it will have much effect at all," Wyckoff said.

Carry Only A Few Tom Falcone, manager of John's Bargain Store at the Stroud Shopping Center, said, "The decision probably won't affect our business very much because we carry few fair trade items."

"Our company buys from manufacturers at a lesser cost because we buy in carload lots."

Ex-Sheriff: Records In 3 Offices

STROUDSBURG — Former sheriff Jacob Altomose yesterday rebutted a statement by sheriff Edward Metzgar that Altomose "had removed all the previous records ..." of the sheriff's office.

At the joint county offices meeting with the County Commissioners Wednesday at Pleasant Valley Manor, Metzgar said, "Since all previous records were removed by former sheriff Jake Altomose, it is impossible for me to give a comparison between this year and last."

Altomose said, "There are copies of the records in Judge Fred W. Davis's office, in the treasurer's office, and in the commissioner's office."

"The records show the total work of the sheriff's office: writs served, executions, prisoners, meals served, cost of meals, money turned over to the county, etc.

Students Studying Abroad Best Envoys, Rotary Told

STROUDSBURG — High school students studying abroad are the best ambassadors of good will.

Dr. Les Jordan of Dallas, Pa., former Rotary district governor, said this had been proved by the Rotary high school student exchange program.

He said the plan which he initiated started in 1960 with 29 high school students studying abroad and grew to 43 in 1961, to 59 in 1962, to 97 in 1963.

"We have had a reception for beyond our dreams or expectations," Dr. Jordan, a dental surgeon, said.

Three Stroudsburg Rotary exchange students were introduced. They were Alana Sterner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Sterner of East Stroudsburg; Beverly Shinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Shinn; and Deborah Shinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shinn.

Orchestra's Summer Home Shown To Phi Chapter

STROUDSBURG — Members of the Phi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, an international honorary society of women educators, were shown an architect's rendering of the proposed Pocono summer home of the Philadelphia Orchestra at a recent meeting.

Marcia Clapp DeRocca, director of the Pocono Art Center, sponsors of the new cultural center which will be built off Mt. Nebo Rd. in Middle Smithfield Township, displayed the drawing and discussed her organization's progress on the project.

At the meeting, held in the Stroud Community House in Stroudsburg, H. Elise Bryan, chapter president, announced Miss Peter Nelson of Lackawanna has been awarded a scholarship to continue her studies toward a doctorate degree in elementary education.

The scholarship was made available by the Pennsylvania Scholarship Committee of Delta Kappa Gamma. Mrs. Nelson is a charter member of the Phi Chapter and will pursue her studies at New York University.

Members attending the meeting were Mrs. Leland Cramer, Mrs. Harold Ryder and Miss Frances Hanks, all of Millford; Mrs. Frank Walter and Miss Elsie Swingle, both of Hawley; Mrs. T. J. Thompson of Kunkletown.

Also Miss Doris Bortree and Miss Ella Gilpin, both of Sterling; Miss Cora Lange of Newfoundland; Mrs. Franklin Blitz of Canadensis; Mrs. Floyd Cyphers of Bartonville; Mrs. Frank Wagner, Mrs. Willie King and Miss Zimbar, all of East Stroudsburg, and Catherine Wolvert, Mrs. Nevin Nonnenmacher, Janet L. Bender, Miss Bryan and Miss Mary Hall, all of Stroudsburg.

E-Burg Grad Performed In Othello

EAST STROUDSBURG — Miss Mary Sayer, 1960 graduate of East Stroudsburg High School, recently played the part of Emilia in William Shakespeare's "Othello" at the Gettysburg College.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sayer traveled to the college to witness the performance. In addition, Miss Sayer, a senior history major from Mt. Bethel, has appeared in "South Pacific," "Guys and Dolls," "The Sound of Music," "The Chairs," "Darkness at Noon" and "Faust," and "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals."

Miss Sayer is vice president of Alpha Psi Omega, the national dramatic honorary.

Steamtown Site For Honesdale?

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP) — Nelson Blount, of North Walpole, N. H., made his second trip to Wayne County Wednesday in search of a place to locate "Steamtown U.S.A.," a museum with 67 locomotives. Originally, 34 places requested the museum, but Blount has narrowed the choice to Orlando, Fla., and Honesdale.

Library Offering Film Aid

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Elizabeth N. Kane, head librarian at the Monroe County Library in Stroudsburg, announced yesterday the library is offering a movie review service to its patrons.

The new service, called the Green Sheet, will be posted in the library and is composite review of current movies made by ten prominent national organizations, Mrs. Kane said.

The organizations joining in the critical estimate of new movies are the American Jewish Committee, American Library Assn., Federation of Motion Picture Councils, General Federation of Women's Clubs, National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Also National Council of Women of the USA, National Federation of Music Clubs, Daughters of the American Revolution, Protestant Motion Picture Council and Schools Motion Picture Committee.

The motion picture review committees of these organizations screen all of the important domestic and some foreign films, independently preparing their reviews.

The reviews are then discussed and compiled into a "film estimate" which represents the composite reviews of all members, according to Mrs. Kane.

The Green Sheet is made available through the cooperation of the Motion Picture Assn. of America. In addition to the reviews, the sheet suggests suitable audiences for certain movies. "Our library will not only post the Green Sheet as an easily available source of film information, we will also be happy to answer queries from parents interested in obtaining this information in order to decide whether or not certain films are suitable for the young people in their families."

"We agree that thoughtful selection of motion pictures is one way to be sure that a movie will always be a pleasurable experience," Mrs. Kane said.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Around every holiday, whether religious or secular, there seems to grow up a framework of legend, folk-lore and customs which have little or nothing to do with the original purpose of the day itself.

Easter, which switches around the calendar in consistent inconsistency, is the most chameleon when it comes to customs, too. They vary according to age and sex almost year to year.

For the toddlers the Easter bunny and the Easter basket are the big things. Dyed eggs, of course, and jelly beans and biliously colored marshmallow eggs; marshmallow chickens and rabbits and a big chocolate egg with your name on it — that is joy enough.

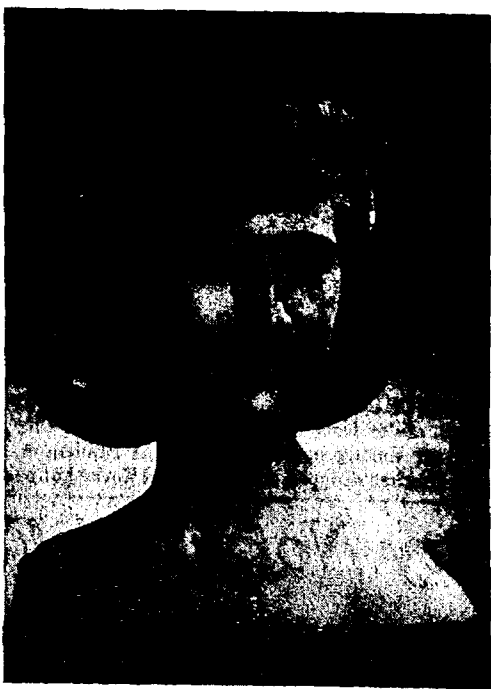

Tempered, of course, by the fact that few little children like hard-boiled eggs or black jelly beans. They love the chocolate but mothers don't think much of too much so by the time they've nibbled off the bottom a few times and put it back in the basket, it grows green grass hair.

For the young teens, the Easter outfit is something to be prized. Patent leather shoes — with heels, of course — and a hat with flowers that they'll probably never wear again are the prime essentials. What Easter parade we have in the Stroudsburgs is composed of just such as these.

During the courting days, it's the Easter corsage that makes or breaks a girl's day, preferably accompanied by the young man who furnished it, even though he's squirming at such a public declaration of his involvement — but, with or without the boy, a corsage is a status thing.

Eventually, of course, you get to the potted plant stage — and, frankly, it can be sort of a relief.

Unfortunately, when you work on a newspaper, holidays keep coming around

Miss Beverly Korell

Miss Korell Engaged To Donald Due

Bangor — Mr. and Mrs. Peter Korell of Bangor RD 1 announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Beverly Korell, to Donald P. Due, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Due of 487 Broad St., Pen Argyl.

The prospective bride is a senior at Bangor Area Joint High School. Her fiancé was graduated from Pen Argyl Joint High School and is employed by Hoyer Products Co., Bangor.

Mac got the idea of picturing an empty grave, from the bottom up, but had to borrow George's wide-angle camera to get all four walls of a newly-opened grave. The controversy arose about who was going to lie in the bottom of the grave day to get the proper perspective. It was Mac's idea but George's camera. They finally worked it out amicably enough so that neither of them are occupying the grave permanently — yet.

Spring Blossoming With Special Events For Scouts

Scranton — Spring is here, and members of the Scranton Pocono Girl Scout Council have a busy season ahead of them.

Beginning with the Senior Inter-Council Conference, March 14 through April 15, the council planned a full program of activities.

More than 250 delegates from ten Girl Scout Councils located in Pennsylvania, New York and Maryland, convened at the new Girl Scout headquarters, 333 Madison Avenue, Scranton, for a two-day session. During that time, the girls had an opportunity to exchange ideas and program activities, to become better acquainted with Senior opportunities, and to discuss how they could best direct their efforts to serve the future.

Tuesday, March 24 was moving day... the day the last desk, chair, box, file at 450 Adams Avenue were loaded in to the moving van and transported to the newly acquired Girl Scout House, 333 Madison Avenue. The new headquarters officially opened for business Wednesday morning, March 25.

March 30 until April 3, is Open-House Week for all the Girl Scout troops and adult members of the council who would like to visit their new Girl Scout House. Volunteers will conduct tours of the building during the hours 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Wednesday, April 22, is the council's annual public meeting. This year, for the first time, it will be a dessert meeting and will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium of Girl Scout House. The meeting is open to all leaders, Girl Scout adults, Seniors, and friends in the community, and gives everyone an opportunity to become more familiar with the Girl Scout program. Mrs. Ellis Green, Jr., Clarks Summit, is chairman of the meeting. Reservations are necessary and must be made before April 15.

The Seniors, too, will continue to be very active. Most of them are presently engaged in Service Aide programs, both the training and service, as well as working towards the eight indispensable. Their next major event is the Senior Weekend, scheduled for the weekend of April 17, 18, and 19. During these three days, the Senior troops from all sections of the council spend time together in the out-of-doors, making new friends and enjoying outdoor activities.

Left-Over Ham Better Than Beatles

By Linda Phipper

Daily Record Home Economist
Stroudsburg — Unless you have a member of the younger generation at your house, you may not know what baseball cards are. Bubble gum chewers get a bonus with their gun, for five cents buys four squares of bubble gum plus four cards with pictures of baseball players. It is the first sign of Spring when they begin to appear for it means the kids are chewing, exchanging the cards and getting the itch to bat a ball.

But everything changes, and though it is hard enough to stare at baseball players all through the house, it is even worse to have to pick up Beatles where ever you go. Yes, the Beatles have replaced the baseball players as idols and now the kids buy Beatle gum.

We have approximately one hundred pictures of Ringo, John, Paul and George flung all over the house. So you think you have troubles?

I groan at the Beatle leftovers; I'd much rather worry about food leftovers. If you're having ham for tomorrow's dinner save this recipe for next week. It features parboiled broccoli and cubed ham baked with a flavorful sauce and topped with browned bread crumbs.

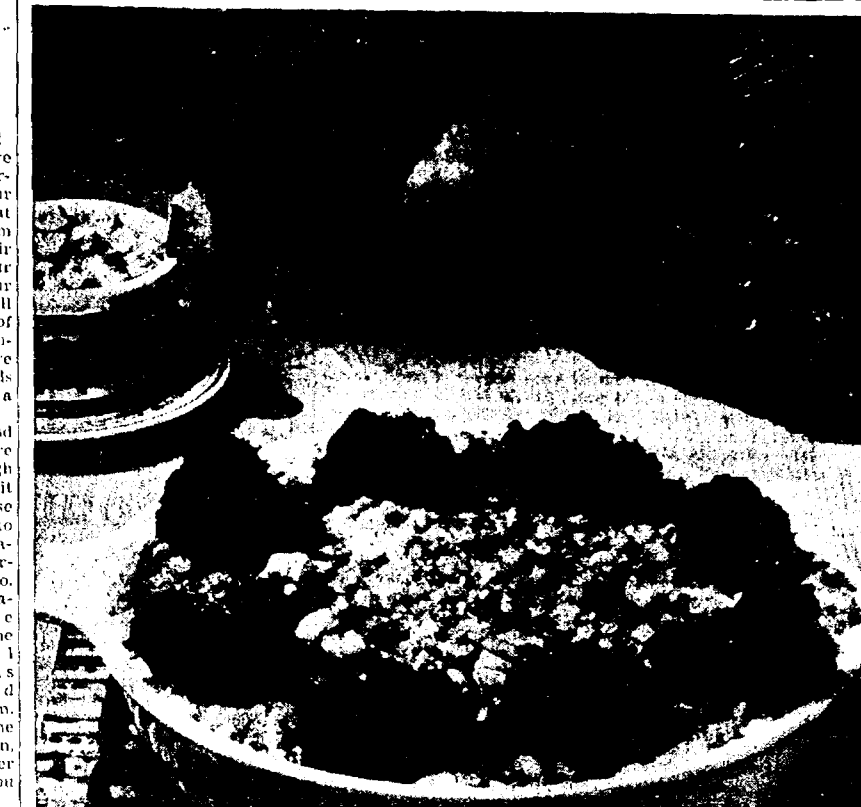

Broccoli And Ham Divan
1 large bunch fresh broccoli (about 2 pounds)
1 inch boiling water in saucepan

1 teaspoon salt
2 cups diced cooked ham
Mustard-cheese sauce
1 cup soft bread cubes
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Wash and trim broccoli. Cut large stalks in halves or quarters. Place in a saucepan with boiling water and salt. Cover and parboil until about half done, lifting the lid once or twice. Arrange one-half of the broccoli in the bottom of a 10 x 6 x 2 inch baking dish. Cover with a layer of cooked ham and then with Mustard-Cheese Sauce (recipe below). Sprinkle with bread cubes blended with the melted butter or margarine. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350) 30 minutes. Remove from oven and garnish with remaining cooked broccoli.

HAM DIVAN — Combines diced ham, fresh broccoli spears and a well-seasoned mustard cheese sauce for a good meal-in-a-dish starting fresh or using up left-overs from that Easter ham.

1½ tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon powdered dry mustard
dash ground black pepper
¼ cup shredded sharp American or Cheddar cheese

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Blend in flour until smooth. Add milk and seasonings and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese and stir until melted. Yields 6 servings.

I had the best sweet potatoes at Mary Jane McCuskey's house and when I asked her for the recipe she told me that she didn't have a special recipe. It was just the way her mother, Mrs. Mary Blair, had always fixed them. In fact she said that served with ham loaf, it was her brother, Foster's, favorite meal when they were growing up.

It's a good way to use left-over sweet potatoes or even nice for your Easter dinner with ham; you could fix them today and refrigerate them and put them in the oven the last half hour. Mary Jane's children have named them "haystacks" and that's what they look like!

Mrs. Blair's Haystacks
Cook sweet potatoes in boiling salted water until tender. Drain, saving a little liquid in pan. Mash with electric mixer until smooth. Let potatoes get cold and then form into balls around a marshmallow. Roll in cornflakes and bake in a 350 oven for 20 to 25 minutes until lightly browned and marshmallows are melted.

Lamb is also a popular meat for Easter so that you may have leftovers from this roast. Make a shepherd's pie which is always tasty and use either instant or leftover mashed potatoes.

Shepherd's Pie
2 cups cooked diced lamb
½ cup chopped onions
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1 cup cooked peas
½ oz. can sliced mushrooms
¼ cup stock or bouillon
½ teaspoon oregano
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Seasoned mashed potatoes
Undiluted evaporated milk
Combine lamb and onions. Cook over medium heat 10 minutes. Add flour, peas, mushrooms, stock or bouillon, oregano, salt, pepper and Worcestershire sauce; mix well. Turn into 2 quart casserole. Top with mashed potatoes; brush with evaporated milk. Bake in moderate oven (325) 40 minutes.

ROUND AND ABOUT WYCKOFF'S—

The big excitement here at Wyckoff's now is, of course, the coming of Easter and the thrill of helping hundreds of people select all the beautiful fashions, gifts and goodies that will add up to a wonderful holiday. The other evening I sat in our Tea Room gazing out over the store, and watched the customers descend our main stairway from the second floor. It was amazing how many were carrying dress, suit, or millinery boxes. I'd always known that the Easter parade was a big affair, but I never really noted before just how many women actually do buy entire new ensembles at this particular time—and from Wyckoff's too! . . . Our Tea Room is so busy it is small wonder that occasionally it is necessary to place willing strangers at the same table. Sometimes this can be most interesting. Just the other evening, Blanche Mackey seated me with a most attractive young woman who is associated with Pocono Manor, and was delighted by the news that the resort men of that area are re-activating the Laurel Blossom Festival. I noticed she was wearing a support on her wrist, and asked if she had broken a bone while skiing. "No," she said, "I enjoy sports here in the Poconos and never seem to have any trouble. I broke my arm ice skating with a nice man during my vacation in the Midwest." I sympathize with her—it's just the sort of thing that always happens to me. . . . Dr. Claus Jordan was most generous in giving his time last Tuesday morning to visit our Wyckoff Shopper broadcast and speak about the hazards of smoking, in conjunction with the anti-smoking posters being made by elementary students of county schools. The students are competing in a contest sponsored by the Monroe County Medical Association, and their work will be exhibited in our Keystone Room beginning March 31st. Dr. Jordan stated that the doctors here have been aware for at least a decade of the increasing number of deaths from lung cancer and heart disease, and that he is now an active crusader against the use of tobacco, being thoroughly convinced that it is responsible for many serious illnesses. His classic answer to those who say, "Well, I've smoked two packs a day for so many years there is nothing I can do about it now," is that this is definitely untrue. Just as tobacco causes changes in lung structure, so will the withdrawal of nicotine permit regression of the deteriorating processes. One who talks with him feels he is most sincere in urging an educational program to deter young people from developing the habit. After the broadcast, he told me he had been very much interested in my comments about the growth of the hospital here, and my remark that it now "dominates the distant landscape when one looks down Sarah street toward East Stroudsburg." Dr. Jordan, who is largely responsible for the hospital's growth and progress here, tells me this view of the new building always arouses a deep emotion in him. "It's just wonderful," he said. And no one will deny that. . . . Following our exhibit of the "Hazards of Smoking" posters, our Keystone Room will be turned over to the representatives of twelve of Monroe County's leading organizations for a Table of the Month exhibit which promises to be one of the most interesting things we've sponsored thus far. Do come in and keep in touch with Keystone Room events.

The Bonus Infant

VERO BEACH, Fla.—The bonus infant of today no longer shows up with a straw suitcase and a vacant look and a hunger for hog maws and hush puppies.

He appears in garments with an Ivy League cut, carries a copy of the Wall Street Journal and bears a respectful tolerance for his employers who never got past high school algebra.

Jeffrey Allen Torborg is tall, blond and richly tanned. The speech is articulate and the manners impeccable, leaving you assured that if three forks were placed beside him, he would choose the right one for the fish course.

You stand back and look at Torborg with admiration. In the twinkling of an eye, he picked O'Malley for $100,000, known in the circuit as a 100 big once.

He did it, what's more, without even a deck of cards, much less three walnut shells and a pea. All he had to offer was a college batting average last year of .537 and nine other bids from major league clubs.

The collegiate All-American catcher last season, Jeff is a Rutgers man who, presumably, has vowed to die for O'Malley. A patsy for class and eager to wipe out the Flashback image, the Dodgers have brought Torborg to gaff for the largest bonus they have paid since the signing of Frank Howard.

A product of middle class circumstances—his father is a life insurance agent—Jeff sort of typifies the kind of kid coming into baseball camps these days. He never has missed a meal, has worked only at his own leisure, is secure in the feeling right now that if everything falls in baseball, he can, as Fresno Thompson points out, "go home and eat at Pop's table."

You note the circumstances are similar with Wes Parker, another of the young heroes in the Dodger camp. He comes from a comfortable home in Brentwood, Calif. Nor is Paul Speckenbach, a New York pitcher who extracted $70,000 from O'Malley, a child of the streets.

The changing economy is evident. The hungry player is giving way to those better fed, and the upshot is probably a higher quality, less neurotic individual in the sport.

The new rule of baseball specifies that any first year player signing a contract with a major league club must remain with the parent organization or face the possibility of a draft.

In other words, a big league club must protect its new livestock by keeping it on its roster all season. It is permitted to option a new player to the minors only if he counts as one of the 25 in personnel allowed the big league team.

Since the Dodgers have acquired four first year players this season, they are reduced to only 21 veterans.

The great cerebral masters who control baseball have figured that the new rule will discourage indiscriminate hunting on the part of the moneyed teams, now that they must keep their babies at the expense of seasoned players.

We inquired of Fresno Thompson, vice president in charge of Dodger farms, if the team would let, say, a $100,000 bonus stand in the way of a pennant.

"We would risk losing a first year man at any time he felt we made a mistake," he responded. "What I mean is, we won't keep an expensive young player if we discover he isn't the prospect we first suspected."

"No matter what we gave him, we would acknowledge our error and let him go to another team for even $5,000. To keep him because of the original outlay of money would be compounding our stupidity."

Although Rutgers was founded in 1766, it has yet to produce a ball player who has lasted in the majors. Harvard has come up with a couple, not to mention Colgate, Yale and Lehigh, but a Rutgers type, never.

Ten years or so ago, according to young Torborg, a Rutgers grad had a cup of tea with Pittsburgh, but never lasted.

Jeff's wife, Suzie, is a former Miss New Jersey, which means, of course, that if one is marrying a lady from that state, he can't do much better there.

With O'Malley's cabbage safely deposited, Torborg confides that he is now exploring several areas of investment.

We wondered idly whether we could interest him in a little worthless oil stock, or perhaps in a piece of the Santa Ana Freeway.

These kids today may be of genius dimensions, but, as Ty Cobb once said, any alert guy can pull great plays against great players.

Clay Or Machen

Next For Floyd

NEW YORK (UPI) — If Floyd Patterson does not get a shot at Cassius Clay's heavyweight crown, ex-champion Floyd definitely will fight Eddie Machen at Stockholm, Sweden, in July, promoter Al Bolan announced Friday night.

Young Bolan of New York, who was associated in the promotion of Patterson's last five title bouts, made his announcement after Bolan's Swedish promoter Edwin Ahlgvist, said in Stockholm Friday that Patterson and Machen definitely would fight on July 5 or July 12.

In New York, Bolan admitted that "negotiations are in their final stages," but he emphasized "the match has not yet been consummated."

Bolan, who offered champion

"I hope to hear from Clay and Manager Bill Favrethson soon about the proposed defense against Floyd. If that title match is not made, then Floyd and Machen will fight in Stockholm."

Bolan said he believed Patterson and Machen could draw a live gate of between $400,000 and $500,000 in Stockholm. He added, "and it is an ideal elimination match for a shot at the champion."

Patterson of Yonkers, N. Y., and Machen of Los Angeles are two of the four contenders named Thursday by the New York State Athletic Commission to determine a challenger for Clay. The other two contenders are Ernie Terrell of Chicago and Cleveland Williams of Houston, Tex.

Guzzo Loses Decision;

Semis Stop Engineers

ITHACA, N. Y. — Bob Guzzo of East Stroudsburg State College yesterday was eliminated in the quarterfinals of the NCAA wrestling championships while two Lehigh University grapplers bowed out in the semis.

Guzzo, 123-pound sophomore who finished third in the NAIA tournament earlier this week, dropped an 8-4 decision to Oklahoma State's Dennis Dutsch.

Lehigh's Douglas Koch (147) lost to Oklahoma's Jerry Stanley in the semifinals, 6-2, and John Gladish (191) was defeated by Oklahoma State's Jack Brisco.

Guzzo Thursday advanced to the quarterfinals by pinning Iowa State's Joe Frank with one second remaining and then decided Army's Robert Steenlage, a three-time Iowa State high school champ, 4-3.

In addition to Koch and Gladish, Lehigh's Bill Stuart (130) and heavyweight John Illengwarth also had advanced to the quarterfinals before losing yesterday.

Win Title
The tournament proved a run-away for powerful Oklahoma State as the Cowboys sewed up their 24th championship by advancing six men to the finals.

No other team qualified more than two wrestlers.

For Oklahoma State, it marked a return to the winner's circle after a one year's absence.

Defending champion Oklahoma University, Iowa State, Colorado University, and Southern Illinois each sent two men to the finals.

Jim Nance of Syracuse, defending NCAA heavyweight champ, and winner of 78 straight bouts over a six-year stretch in high school and college, saw his skein snapped in the quarterfinals by Bob Billberg of Moorhead State, Minn.

Nance Outweighed
Billberg, a sophomore who outweighed his 225 opponent by 30 pounds, scored a 2-1 victory.

The Moorhead wrestler was awarded the decisive point in the final 31 seconds when Nance was penalized for deliberately going off the mat to avert a takedown.

A 1952 champion, 157-pound Jack Flasche of Colorado State College, was upset in the quarterfinals by unseeded Bill Lam of Oklahoma, 4-3.

Biggest upset in the semifinal round was at 137 pounds, where Gary Wilcox of Michigan, a part-time regular during the regular season, stunned top-seeded and unbeaten Bob Buzzard of Iowa State, 2-1.

Defending champion Dean Lahr breezed through two matches at 177, and Harry Houska of Ohio University, the favorite at 191, registered his third straight pin.

Some 2,500 fans viewed the proceedings.

The finals are set for Saturday night.

Can Aggies Obtain Manners?
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Anyone who has ever attended Texas A&M or who has observed any collection of Aggies at a sporting event will swear it will not work.

A few moushback old grads may become a little ill.

The problem is: How do you instill British manners into strong-lunged and exuberant Aggies?

The question arose when John F. Griffiths, London-born weather expert at A&M, sent out printed invitations to the cricket game between A&M and the University of Texas April 11.

Among other things, the game will stop for luncheon, and tea — TEA? — It continues that long.

"The Cricket Club requests the pleasure of your company," the invitation began.

Griffiths, who has been around A&M long enough to see trouble coming for fine old cricket traditions, advised that spectators do not yell or whoop.

"The acknowledgment of a good piece of play is clapping," the invitation read.

"Oh, well, hit, sir, is the appropriate comment when the batsman gets off the equivalent of a home run."

"There will be a luncheon interval at half-past 12, and if the match goes on long enough, a tea interval."

Olson was ranked the No. 6 challenger in the 175-pound division by both the World Boxing Association and Ring Magazine.

Thornton was listed No. 5 by NBA and No. 7 by Ring.

Campbell's 5-Under Par

1st Round Leads Azalea

By KEN ALTYA
WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Chunky Joe Campbell, using 67 strokes and six cigars, shot a five-under-par 67 Friday to take a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $20,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament.

Resplendent in bright red shirt and socks and shoes with the black and gold of Purdue University, his alma mater, the 27-year-old Campbell shot the 67-44-yard Cape Fear Country Club course in 33-34 to wrest the lead from veteran Bob Gajda of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., part-time tourney pro, who fashioned his 68 on a pair of 34s.

With the temperature in the 60s and a bright sunshine bathing the course, conditions were perfect for scoring following Thursday's rain that delayed the start of the tournament. As a result, 34 men in the field of 160 broke par and 23 matched regulation figures.

5 Birdsies
Campbell's round was his best in competition since last July. The Hoosier, who sat out three tournaments during the winter tour to rest an injured left hand had five birdsies and 13 pars. His longest putt was a 12-footer on the fifth hole. He missed only one green, the 16th, but chipped three inches from the hole for his par three.

The round won Campbell $600 in bonus money that goes to the daily low score.

He counted 31 putts and called it one of his top greens performances of the year.

The lanky Gajda, balding, bespectacled and 47 years old, had 30 one-putt greens and rolled in five putts of 15 to 30 feet in taking a lead that held up for about three hours.

He is best remembered perhaps as the first-round leader with 69 in last year's U.S. Open. After that start, he failed to break 80 in the next three rounds.

Five Share 3rd
Five men shared third place at 69. Among them were two surprises, 24-year-old Rocky Mount, N. C., amateur Ed Justa, and Dutch Harrison, who will be 54 years old Sunday. He won here in 1950.

Tommy Jacobs, Jack McGowan and Don Fairfield were others in the group. Thirteen men shot 70, among them Bruce Devlin, Gene Littler, Tony Le-ma, George Bayer and Lionel Hebert.

Billy Casper, winner at Miami, Fla., earlier this week, could do no better than par 72 and Jerry Baber, three-time winner and defending champion, took 74.

After Saturday's second round the field will be cut to the low 60 and ties and 10 amateurs for the final rounds Sunday and Monday.

Backcourt ace Bob Cousy retired just last year while two other Celtic veterans, Frank Ramsey and Jim Loscutoff, already have announced they will not play next season.

Russell's admission that he had received medical advice "two months ago" that his career was in jeopardy presumably stemmed from the arthritic condition he has had in his knees for several years.

But the 6-foot, 10-inch former San Francisco All-American indicated his most pressing problem was lack of sleep. Russell said he was "lucky" if he got more than two hours sleep in any one night.

Russell declined to discuss the nature of proposed surgery this summer except to say it was "not major." However, a club spokesman said it would "probably be for a growth on his eyelid."

Russell, who holds most NBA rebounding records while playing with the Celtics, also declined to discuss the "personal problems" mentioned in the newspaper story, saying only that they were "my problems."

Monroe, Pike To Be Eligible For Project 70 Land Funds

STROUDSBURG — Monroe and Pike Counties will be eligible for state aid to acquire land under Project 70 enabling legislation before the special session of the General Assembly.

R. M. Hoot, executive secretary of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce and legislative analyst for the chamber's legislative committee, discussed the possible impact of Project 70 in the Pocono Mountains at the committee meeting Thursday.

The legislation is aimed primarily at urban and suburban counties which, according to Senate Bill 4, "require immediate acquisition of lands for recreation, conservation and historical purposes before such lands are lost forever to urban development or become prohibitively expensive."

But Hoot pointed to sections of the bill under which Monroe and Pike Counties could receive Project 70 funds.

"The state is divided by the bill into acquisition and development counties."

"Acquisition counties" where public recreation land is less than 10 per cent of the county and there is an urban area of more than 25,000 people include Carbon, Northampton, Lackawanna, Luzerne and Wayne Counties in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

"Development counties" where public recreation land is more than 10 per cent of the county and there is no urban area of 25,000 people include Monroe and Pike Counties.

The bill allocates $40 million for state acquisition of land for recreation or conservation in "acquisition counties" or for historical sites in any county.

It allocates $20 million for state aid to any townships, boroughs or counties for up to 50 per cent of the cost of land to be acquired by such political subdivisions for recreation, conservation or historical purposes. Monroe and Pike Counties are eligible for this aid.

The bill also contains $5 million for state purchase of land in "acquisition counties" for "conservation and propagation of game threatened by development in urban areas."

The last $5 million is for state purchase of land in any county for "conservation and propagation of fish and other aquatic life and for access sites on lakes and waterways for fishing and boating purposes."

Under the $20 million program for state aid to any local municipalities, the bill provides that the township, borough or county first approve the land acquisition.

The local political body must then apply to the Bureau of Community Development in the State Department of Commerce for approval.

The bureau would then forward the application to the Department of Forests and Waters for final approval. The local political subdivision would then acquire the land by purchase agreement or eminent domain proceedings.

Judges Sworn In

Drama Used To Transmit Message Of Easter Story

SWIFTWATER — An experiment in trying to transmit the message of Easter was tried recently in the Swiftwater Methodist Church.

The Rev. Thomas Cenker, pastor, said the tool used was a modernistic version of "The Terrible Week," a religious drama, depicting the events of the night of the Crucifixion.

The drama was performed by four members of the church's Youth Fellowship who used no scenery or props other than candle light from the altar. The play was narrated.

"As the audience sat in the pews and watched what was happening in the chancel area where the presentation was made, they became involved in the play as they realized they were the crowd who crucified the victim."

"The actors raised questions and stimulated thought but the conclusions were all left to the people sitting in the pews," The Rev. Mr. Cenker said.

"No conclusion was reached... there was no happy ending," the pastor continued, "as a matter of fact, when the actors stopped speaking, the play did not end."

"Rather in a very real sense it had just begun in the lives of those who sat in the pews and found they were not just being entertained, but were indeed confronted with something they had to wrestle with." He said at no time were the characters in the play identified; "If any identification was made it was in the mind of the observer."

The Rev. Mr. Cenker, who also is in charge of the Arlington Heights Methodist Church, said he thought this was the first time a drama of this type was used in a Methodist church to bring a message to parishioners.

The four youths taking part in the play were Wendy Batchelor, narrator; Beverly Storer; Ronald Brosius, and Gerald Borius.

Lions To Back Little League

TANNERSVILLE — The Tannersville Lion's Club recently voted to sponsor the Tannersville Little League for another three years.

The club was also told that there are now two wishing wells in the area for the Lion Eye Bank project. One of the wells is at the Rhineland Inn, the other is at Camelback Ski Center.

Donald Smith was elected to membership.

The next regular meeting of the club will be at the annual regional rally at the State Belt Farm Show Building on April 14.

West End Democrats To Toast Rooney

SAYLORSBURG — Plans for the Congressman Fred B. Rooney dinner have been completed by the West End Democratic Assn.

Witold Tillwicz, president, said "We have conformation from the congressman that he and his wife will be at the dinner on April 11 in Ye Old Saylor's Inn, Saylorsburg."

Plans for the dinner were started at a January meeting. But setting the date was delayed until confirmation from Congressman Rooney was received.

Tillwicz said tickets to the dinner can be obtained by contacting him or Mrs. Bessie Altemose.

After the meeting started, Tillwicz introduced Rep. Van D. Yetter, Monroe County Commissioner Stuart Pipher, James Cadue, Donald James, J. Joseph McCluskey and Thomas Joyce to the meeting.

Each man gave a short talk. Cadue is the unopposed Democratic candidate for party chairman in the county. James is president of the Democratic Club of the Stroudsburgs, and McCluskey is a candidate for State Democratic Committee-man.

Joyce is a county auditor. In other business the association passed several amendments to the by-laws.

Casey Charges Press Pushing Scranton

SWIFTWATER — State Senator Robert Casey of Scranton charged that "because of the support the Scranton Administration gets from the press, we the people have to get out and inform our neighbors that as Americans we can do much better in Harrisburg."

Speaking at a recent meeting of the Pocono Mountains Democratic Club, Senator Casey said workers are "ridiculous" if they "expect any consideration from Republican sources, especially after Scranton's steamroller methods used to promote a better bill for business... the unemployment compensation bill."

"Scranton's policies were well known in his own county (Lackawanna) and for that reason Scranton lost there while carrying the rest of the state when he ran for governor," Casey declared.

The first-term senator said Scranton campaigned against higher taxes but as soon as he was elected governor "he went all out for higher taxes on anything and everything."

More than 100 Pocono Mountain Democrats were told by Casey that the Republican platform is "the Goldwater platform."

Casey wound up his political talk with praise for Monroe County and its future and commented on the good work being done by U.S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney and State Representative Van D. Yetter of Marshalls Creek, both Democrats.

This Series of Messages In Support of The Church is Sponsored Each Week by the Following Individuals and Business Establishments

All dressed up for EASTER

We know a dour old philosopher who always has something nasty to say about what makes others happy. His latest diatribe is against folks "parading to Church in all their Easter finery."

But he won't get far with his complaints. For, strange as this might sound, the modern Easter "outfit" has its root in the very meaning of the day.

Easter has always stood for newness of life. It marks Christ's victory over death. It promises an eternal destiny to those who embrace the Faith.

Easter puts old things away and brings out the new — as the Earth sends forth its verdure — as God reveals our Hope.

And if there is a glow of happiness in wearing that new dress or hat or suit... well, it's only a hint of the joy that comes with finding that New Life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
